FINAL RULING NO. 2011-94
January 27, 2012

General Property - Tangible Tax and
Motor Vehicle Usage Tax Assessments

FINAL RULING

The Kentucky Department of Revenue currently has outstanding tangible personal property tax assessments and a motor vehicle usage tax assessment against [REDACTED] totaling $ [REDACTED] (plus applicable interest and penalties) for the assessment dates of September 4, 2009, January 1, 2010 and January 1, 2011. A breakdown of the assessments is outlined in the chart below:

Tax Year	Tax Type	Tax Due	Interest Due 01/27/2012	Penalty Due 01/27/2012	Total Due 01/27/2012
2010	General Property - Tangible	[REDACTED]	[REDACTED]	[REDACTED]	[REDACTED]
2011	General Property - Tangible	[REDACTED]	[REDACTED]	[REDACTED]	[REDACTED]
2009	Motor Vehicle Usage Tax	[REDACTED]	[REDACTED]	[REDACTED]	[REDACTED]
Totals		[REDACTED]	[REDACTED]	[REDACTED]	[REDACTED]

At issue is whether [REDACTED] has complied with the requirements of KRS 131.110(1), which states in pertinent part:

The protest shall be accompanied by a supporting statement setting forth the grounds upon which the protest is made. Upon written request, the department may extend the time for filing the supporting statement if it appears the delay is necessary and unavoidable.

The Kentucky courts have held that this statutory provision imposes upon a taxpayer protesting an assessment or a refund denial a legal duty to provide the Department with “something more substantial than mere denials of tax liability.” Eagle Machine Co., Inc. v. Commonwealth ex rel. Gillis, 698 S.W.2d 528, 530 (Ky.App. 1985). In order to make a valid protest, a taxpayer must “provide financial statements, records or some other documentation that would allow the Revenue Department some basis for reconsideration.” Id. at 529.

The courts have further held that KRS 131.110(1) is “mandatory in nature” and that failure to submit documentation as it requires will result in the taxpayer’s loss of the right to further review of the assessment or refund denial in question. Scotty’s Construction Co. v. Revenue Cabinet, 779 S.W.2d 234 (Ky.App. 1989). In both Scotty’s Construction and Eagle Machine, the taxpayers failed to provide any substantial information in support of their denials of tax liability, despite being given ample opportunity to do. The same is true in this matter.

██████████ has asserted several times in written correspondence to the Department of Revenue that she is an ██████████ resident and that she does not own the automobile in question. Information on file with the Department of Revenue indicates ██████████ has filed Kentucky income tax returns for at least the last five years. Further, title information received from the state of ██████████ indicates ██████████ is the legal owner of the vehicle. The Department of Revenue has requested documentation necessary to support the protest; however, ██████████ has failed to submit anything that would allow the Department a basis for reconsideration of the tax liability.

Therefore, the outstanding tangible personal property tax assessments totaling $ ██████████ (plus applicable interest and penalties) are legitimate liabilities of ██████████ due to the Commonwealth of Kentucky.

This letter is the final ruling of the Department of Revenue.
