FINAL RULING NO. 2013-60
November 15, 2013

Denial of Purchase Exemption Certificate

FINAL RULING

The Kentucky Department of Revenue ("DOR") has denied an application for a purchase exemption (Form51A125) submitted by [Redacted], LLC ("[Redacted]"). [Redacted] has protested this denial.

An exemption from sales and use tax is provided in KRS 139.495(1) for sales of tangible personal property, digital property, or services to resident nonprofit education institutions which have qualified for exemption from income taxation under §501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code, provided the tangible personal property, digital property, or service is used solely within the educational, charitable, or religious function. Thus, if [Redacted] is granted the purchase exemption it seeks, it will be able to make tax-exempt purchases of tangible personal property, digital property and services by presenting a completed purchase exemption certificate (Form51A126) to its vendors.

[Redacted] is a Kentucky limited liability company and its sole member is [Redacted] which is exempt from income taxation under §501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code. However, [Redacted] itself is not exempt from income taxation under §501(c)(3).

[Redacted]'s application for a purchase exemption states that its primary function is operating a Christian school for grades pre-kindergarten through twelfth. The applicant has for many years operated a Christian school as a ministry of their church. On [Redacted], 2012, the church established itself as a separate limited liability Company (LLC).
At issue is whether [BLANK]'s application for a purchase exemption based upon KRS 139.495 was properly denied by the DOR.

The taxpayer submitted a letter requesting the purchase exemption certificate without the prerequisite §501(c)(3) determination letter for [BLANK]. The school contends it has already qualified for tax exemption status under §501(c)(3) of the Code and as a result is entitled to a sales and use tax purchase exemption under Kentucky statute. According to the taxpayer's representative, the IRS recognizes that a disregarded entity whose sole owner is a §501(c)(3) organization is not required to file a Form 1023. Doing so would destroy the taxpayer's disregarded entity status for federal tax purposes. Instead, the disregarded entity inherits its parent's exemption. Because the notice requirement of Code §508(a) does not apply to a disregarded entity that is wholly owned by a §501(c)(3) organization, it will not file a Form 1023 and will not receive a separate determination letter. Its exemption under §501(c)(3) is based on the parent's exemption, therefore, the relevant determination letter is that of the parent which was provided.

It is well settled that an exemption from taxation such as the one claimed by [BLANK] is to be strictly construed, with all doubts resolved against the exemption's application, the exemption will not be presumed or implied, but must instead be clearly stated. Popplewell's Alligator Dock No. 1, Inc. v. Revenue Cabinet, 133 S.W.3d 456, 461 (Ky. 2004); LWD Equipment, Inc. v. Revenue Cabinet, 136 S.W.3d 472, 475 (Ky. 2004). The burden rests squarely upon the taxpayer claiming an exemption to establish that it is entitled to the exemption and that all of the exemption's requirements are satisfied. Id.; Epsilon Trading Co., Inc. v. Revenue Cabinet, 775 S.W. 2d 937, 941 (Ky. App. 1989).

In this case, the exemption claimed cannot apply because [BLANK] itself has not qualified for an exemption from income taxation under Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code.

The Department contends that in order to obtain the purchase exemption certificate, [BLANK] must be in compliance with KRS 139.495. In reviewing the IRS LLC Reference Guide Sheet, it states a single-member LLC seeking §501(c)(3) status must first amend its Articles of Organization to conform to the twelve criteria outlined in the IRS's Guide Sheet and Instructions. [BLANK] took that action. However, DOR cannot independently verify whether these amendments to [BLANK]'s Articles of Organization are or would be satisfactory to the IRS. The parent, [BLANK] needs to request a Private Letter Ruling (PLR) from the IRS or a request for a group exemption letter, whichever may apply. The PLR specifically discusses the applicability of §501(c)(3) status to a disregarded LLC of a Section 501(c)(3) organization. The Department is merely requesting that [BLANK] or its parent follow the prescribed path set forth by the IRS for a §501(c)(3) status determination of a disregarded LLC of a §501(c)(3) organization.
For the exemption provided by KRS 139.495(1) to apply, it is the institution making the purchases in question that must have qualified for exemption from income taxation under §501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code. That is not the case here. Accordingly, the DOR correctly denied [REDACTED]'s application for a purchase exemption based on KRS 139.495.

This is the final ruling of the Department of Revenue.
